College of Engineering Faculty Climate Survey Snapshot

College of Engineering faculty who responded to the Spring 2010 ADVANCE Faculty Climate Survey reported higher satisfaction than the institutional average for eight constructs and reported lower satisfaction than the institutional average for three constructs.

Implications: While most constructs were rated positively, diversity equity climate, institutional support, and workload fell below the institutional average. This finding indicates room for improvement within the college, especially in areas regarding diversity, support provided by the institution, and the workload of faculty members.

Summary: The Faculty Campus Climate Survey among tenured and tenure track faculty in May 2013 was designed to measure overall job satisfaction, intent to remain at the university, work/life balance, diversity equity climate, satisfaction with department chairs, and overall sense of community on campus. A total of 525 faculty across the university responded to the survey for an overall response rate of $24 \%$. The Engineering faculty responses have been aggregated and compared to the overall institutional faculty responses below.

| Faculty Climate Survey 2013 Construct Means |  |  |  |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Survey Construct Measure | College of  Engineering | Institutional Average | Did Not Specify  College |
| Intent to Stay | 3.03 | 2.92 | 2.96 |

* The diversity climate construct was measured as between 0 and 1. Scores closer to one are viewed as more favorable environments for diversity.
The column labeled "Institutional Average" includes scores of respondents who did identify their college in the climate survey. Scores in the "Institutional Average" column include all respondents Scores to the right labeled "Did Not Specify College" are the scores of only those respondents who did not report their college in the climate survey.

Faculty Mentoring

Mentoring, either formal or informal, has been shown to be an important component in career development among faculty across academic literature. Several university wide mentoring programs are available to UNC Charlotte faculty. The year long New Faculty Orientation program provides cohort collaborations and information sessions to incoming faculty to the university.
A one-on-one Faculty Mentoring program pairs senior level faculty members with junior level faculty to provide individual career coaching. A Mid-Career Faculty Mentoring program is offered through monthly meetings coordinated by the ADVANCE Faculty Affairs Office. The information below reflects the status of mentoring in the College of Engineering, based upon responses from the Faculty Climate Survey conducted in spring 2013.

- $34 \%$ of College of Computing and Informatics faculty report serving as a mentor to another UNCC faculty member.
- $53 \%$ of College of Computing and Informatics faculty report having a mentor at UNCC.

- Yes
- No

[^0]:    * Underrepresented minority members are considered to be any ethnicity other than Caucasian or Asian.
